COMMENTS ON STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

Mail Stop Issue Fee
Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Dear Sir:

This Communication addresses the Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance submitted on April 18, 2007 (Official Paper No. 20070319). In the Statement of Reasons for Allowance, the Examiner has identified particular features of the claimed invention that are not taught or suggested by the cited prior art. However, the Examiner did not address whether the cited prior art teaches, or fails to teach, other features of the allowed claims. As the Examiner's Statement is silent with respect to other features and recitations of the allowed claims and the Examiner did not suggest that the cited prior art teaches all other limitations of the allowed claims, Applicant makes clear for the record that any such interpretation of the Statement of Reasons for Allowance would be incorrect and impermissible. The allowed claims include other limitations, not identified by the Examiner as being taught by the cited prior art, which are neither described nor suggested by the prior art.

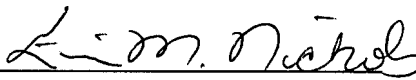

Accordingly, to the extent that the Reasons for Allowance may imply that the claimed invention was allowed due to the failure of the cited prior art to disclose only the claim limitations specifically recited in the Statement of Reasons for Allowance, Applicant disputes any such implication. For example, if the particular distinguishing features identified in the Statement of Reasons for Allowance were indeed found to be associated with a particular prior art reference of record, the claimed invention would not be rendered anticipated under 35 U.S.C. §102 as the claimed invention includes numerous limitations not addressed in the Reasons for Allowance. With respect to obviousness under 35 U.S.C. §103(a), the rigors of establishing prima facie obviousness include a showing that the prior art teaches all of the claim limitations, as well as a legally appropriate showing of motivation to modify or combine references to arrive at the claimed invention and a reasonable expectation of success. If there is disagreement, Applicant invites the Examiner to respond to these remarks.

In view of the Examiner's allowance of all pending claims, the comments provided herein are not provided in an effort to distinguish the pending claims from the prior art. Rather, these comments are provided to make clear that Applicant does not acquiesce that other features and recitations of the allowed claims are necessarily described or suggested by the cited prior art, if such an inference could reasonably be drawn. Further, Applicant has not intended to narrow, nor has Applicant narrowed the breadth of the allowed claims through these explanatory comments.

Unless Applicant hears otherwise, Applicant's comments are, as intended, clarifying in a manner consistent with the law.

Respectfully submitted,
